

Shamrock Bail Bonds

FAQ For Defendants (Those Out On Bail)

1. What does being out on bail mean?

It means you're being released from custody under the promise that you will appear at all your court hearings. Your freedom is conditional and can be revoked.

2. Do I have to go to every court date?

Yes. Missing even one appearance can result in your bond being revoked, a warrant being issued for your arrest, and your indemnitor being held financially responsible. If you have a private attorney, ask them if your attendance is mandatory.

3. What are my conditions of release?

Conditions may include:

- Attending all court hearings.
 - Staying within the state (or county) unless the court grants permission to travel.
 - Avoiding new criminal charges.
 - Checking in with Shamrock Bail Bonds if required.
-

4. What happens if I get re-arrested?

Shamrock Bail Bonds - 1528 Broadway, Fort Myers, FL 33901 #239.332.2245

Your bond may be revoked, and you may lose the money or collateral posted. Your indemnitor could also face financial consequences.

5. Can I leave Florida while on bail?

Not without explicit court approval. Traveling without permission is considered a violation and may cause your bond to be revoked.

6. Will Shamrock remind me about my court dates?

Yes, we do our best to send reminders. However, it's ultimately your responsibility to know your schedule and appear in court. Always verify your dates with your attorney or the clerk of court.

7. How long am I on bond?

Until your case is resolved. Once your charges are dismissed, you're acquitted, or you're sentenced, your bond obligation ends.

8. Can I use drugs or alcohol while on bail?

If your release order includes conditions such as drug testing, treatment programs, or restrictions on alcohol use, you must comply. Violations can send you back to jail.

9. What happens if I move or change phone numbers?

You must notify Shamrock Bail Bonds immediately. Staying in contact ensures you receive updates and prevents miscommunication that could lead to a bond forfeiture.